Time	Session
10:55	MORNING REFRESHMENTS AND NETWORKING
11:25	ENABLING INNOVATION THROUGH REGULATION   EMBRACING POSSIBILITY, BOOSTING INNOVATION Hosted by Conyers Dill & Pearman Bermuda has a leading position in (re)insurance, captives and insurance-linked securities. That has been achieved by taking steps to move forward and gain a lead over other jurisdictions, but how to stay relevant when the industry is changing so much and the insurtech tsunami is here? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Blockchain and the move toward ICO regulation to create an environment of regulatory certainty</li> <li>• Regulation as an enabler to turn Bermuda into a global leader in the fintech and insurtech space</li> <li>• The impact of external influences in Bermuda and how to remain relevant</li> </ul> Chris Garrod, Director, Conyers Dill &amp; Pearman Moad Fahmi, Senior Advisor – Fintech, Bermuda Monetary Authority Sandra DaSilva, Founder, CEO and Chief Software Architect, Nova Sean Moran, Interim CEO, BDA
12:00	ANALYTICS FOR INSURANCE - TURNING DATA INTO YOUR BUSINESS' MOST USEFUL TOOL The use of big data analytics in insurance presents exponential opportunities for the industry. Improved understanding of risks can better inform risk reduction, enhance insurability and streamline the overall business transaction process.  However, the (re)insurance industry is facing major challenges when trying to put the vast amounts of data they possess into usable formats. In addition, individuals, firms and regulators face complex trade-offs when balancing the benefits and risks of using personal data from digital sources to calculate insurance premiums. The panel will discuss:  Big data and its implications for innovation and privacy Data processing, cloud processing and turning data into a useable format The significance of better risk selection and pricing on this industry and all its players  Anup Seth, Managing Director, Aon Insurance managers [Bermuda] Michael Brett, Chief Executive Officer, QxBranch Shelly Klose, Founder &amp; CEO, True Flood Risk
12:35	NETWORKING LUNCH @ POINTS
14:00	HOW INSURERS AND STARTUPS ARE TARGETING THE GROWING CYBER INSURANCE MARKET The number of re/insurers now offering cyber has leapt up considerably. Is it because they understand the risk and exposure better? Or is it because if they don't, they will struggle to remain relevant in a world where cyber is one the biggest threats businesses face? During this discussion, our esteemed panel will discuss:  <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Status of cyber insurance market</li> <li>• How cyber-attacks trigger silent (non-affirmative) coverage</li> <li>• Modelling silent cyber</li> <li>• Insurance approach to blockchain and cryptocurrency risks</li> <li>• What role is Insurtech playing in this space?</li> </ul> Ari Chatterjee, Chief Underwriting Officer, Envelop Risk Giles Harlow, SVP, Professional Risk Solutions, AON Kerr Kennedy, Executive Director, EY Bermuda
